

The background image is an aerial photograph of a landscape. In the upper third, there is a wide, calm lake reflecting a sky with scattered white clouds. Below the lake is a dense, dark green forest line. The middle and lower portions of the image show a vast, open landscape with patches of green grass and numerous small, dark green trees. In the bottom right corner, there is a large, detailed image of a prehistoric pottery fragment, which is a bowl-shaped vessel with a wide rim and a textured, cracked surface.
